

Letter to John Murray III, 13 February 1865

Livingstone, David, 1813-1873

Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org) [0001]

Newstead Abbey

13 Feby 1865

My Dear M<sup>r</sup> Murray

Fearing that I could not make my meaning clear as to the mode of putting the poison on the arrows I got Waller to draw the enclosed for a wood cut. I have the promise of the paper by D<sup>r</sup> Kirk & Prof. Sharpey on the poison which is very virulent - gives an alkaloid like strychnine which seems to act by lowering the pulse - Kirk by an [0002]
accident took a little & it lowered the pulse & cured him of a cold - the paper will do for the appendix. C Livingstones birds & insects are preparing in British Museum for the same

I am directed by M<sup>rs</sup> Webb to say something kind to you for her. So I say your promise to visit this Newstead is not forgotten for I have several times been asked if I thought you would come. We are to have a large party this week - My brother is safe as far as Sierra Leone

David Livingstone