My Dear M^r Murray

I enclose a letter from Holland. I know nothing of the writer except what it contains .

As you are acquainted with Sir G. Wilkinson
would it be convenient

[0002]

to ask him for me
about the crooked
stick or leg - which is common
through all the central country of Africa as an object of worship .
When the natives
refer to their god they all
speak of him

[0003]

with only one leg
or a crooked one.
Now I have the impression that Thoth was supposed to lame or something of that sort and looking into

the Ancient Egyptians to be certain I do not find the impression

[0004]
verified. I should like if convenient
to ask Sir G.
Wilkinson about it .

I am &c

D. Livingstone
