Newstead Abbey

My Dear M<sup>r</sup> Murray

After I had sent off the corrections of your friend I regretted that I had not incorporated them into 4th Revise myself and sent him new matter. If you will kindly return them

namely B. C. D I shall do so and today
I send pages 43-89

[0002]

2nd Revise - which are a portion of the journey up the river to the Falls, and if he will let me have them back in the course of the week
I shall then be able to give him
the narrative consecutively, and I have no doubt he may be able to point out omissions I am glad he mentions the want of inform

[0003]

ation about the
"steamers" What I added will give offence to no one.

As by sending back
your friends corrections to me & 4th Revise I relieve him from the work of in corporating his corrections. I suppose

he may have gone over 43-89 now
sent by Wednesday
next and will therefore send new matters on that day

to keep him going - the reason why the consecutive narrative is not sent is I made additions & these have not come back from Clowes. He will do good service by going over it as a whole - there may be repetitions which I dont notice - I think sometimes I walk into the Portuguese too savagely. Hoping you will excuse
this trouble
I am &c David Livingstone
