

Letter to John Kirk 2, 21 October 1864

Livingstone, David, 1813-1873

Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org) [0001]

21 Oct^r 1864

My Dear Kirk

I am very sorry
to hear your determination
not to engage in
the proposed work
for I am quite sure
that you would
give information
to the world of great
value - and besides
making your
name better known
you would be in a [0002]

fair way of getting
something better -
You will excuse me
if I urge you to reconsider the subject
I am purposely avoiding anything like scientific description having
said in the introduction
that it is hoped that you will give the botany
and natural history
of the Expedition (in the way that Darwin
did of the Beagles voyage) I mention sometimes
that certain beasts were seen or killed and [0003]

always when possible
use we - referring to you & myself as D^r L and D^r K. and I
would give you the
proof sheets that you
might see if I en-
croached too much

on your province -
and give you any information I could
on the habits of some of the animals -
though I daresay you
know more on
that subject than
I do. Your Botanical knowledge is not
elementary and
I thought Welwatsch's
was frightfully so - all the works on natural history would be at your disposal, and by due
acknowledgement
you could work up most of the [popular] information they contain & the authors be thankful. You may see what can be done
though not in an open
above board line as yours
would be, by Routledge's natural history I think he calls it. You had better think over the matter again and if
you change your mind
please let me know

You might consult D^rSmithwith [0004]
advantage and to him and Lady Smith [0005]
you will kindly remember me