My Dear Sir

The account
you have presented to me is clearly
for an appeal
made by you in behalf of the [0002]
funds of the Society
in order that advantage might be taken of my discoveries and
new missions established. It was intended also to defray my expenses, but [0003]
mainly to increase
the Society's funds,
but the appeal
was abortive,
and the expenses
ought to be borne
by the Society.

I am Dear Sir

Yours Truly

David Livingstone
