My Dear Kirk

D^r Peters might as well come down gracefully and to help him you might say that on employing a native whose language I knew as well as any Portuguese knows the dialects of Tette, to enquire the name of a mountain he replied "They call it Kaia or as D^r Peters spells it caiia - and I put that down as the name of the mountain referred to.

[0002]

It is no disgrace to a man to make a mistake of the kind. M^r Moffat has been collecting words in the Sechuana language for the last 43 years -
and finds new ones every week. In eight years I had upwards
of seven thousand and I rejected many hundreds either as uncouth or to me quite useless.

Who but a mad philologist would collect at least a score for the different parts or modes of walking as erect - stooping

leaning backwards
[0003]
- sideways - from side to
- side - wriggling- lifting the feet high - or very straight - slouching swaggering. I think there were eleven
names for a lion -
and no end of words
meaning different shades of fools. D^e Peters vocabularies
are wonderful on account of their gross inaccuracies and
the ability displayed
by D^e Bleek in making
so good a use of such a jumble as they contain. there is scarcely a page but contains as gross [0004]

mistakes as this and one sees the mistakes are made by the Portuguese element
employed

The D^e makes a bad
shot with pēnu, seeing it is never pronounced painoo - and does not mean (except inferentially)
"I dont know." the e is the same as in our word hen - and the word is used as we do the words perhaps - it may be - possibly - Is this the way, or is this right, panic - perhaps it is - inferentially of course it is, I dont know - The majority of Tette fouls live in the huts
of the people & not on perches

[0005]
I cannot recollect two aá's in any native

word but penu, they [may] exist

You will see whether it has been a misprint
by consulting Bleeks
book.

M^r Webb gave me yours
to answer about the words - and you may quote me if you like -

I remember the hill
very well - I say a conical hill from which a large piece had peeled off granitic fashion
like a portion of the flake of an onion - but I dont know the proper [0006]
word for flake

Mosambique wont
do but Bambatook bay would I think -
and as soon as I hear
from Sir Roderick
will write to Lord Russell and make use of Col Playfairs
absence as an argument
I think you had better
write to Dalhousie too

Thanks for your thoughts about Tom
I send D^r Loudons
letter and write a note today to D^r Watson
