

Letter to John Kirk 2, 27, 28 March 1865

Livingstone, David, 1813-1873

Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org) [0001]

27 March 1865

My Dear Kirk

What do you call
the tree from which
the bark cloth is made?
And the cholompi -
would it be sufficient to say
a Pterocarpus -
the vallisneria?
for the lake plant
of which they
make salt. - & is
the sarsaparilla of
the hills known
[0002]

It was the Mosibe
that was previously
known in the West Indies & no where else
was it not - the seed
with a red pellicle
which was fallen up
The Nboma or Boma is also oil yielding I think - what do
you call the Fustic
I did not put any thing of that kind
down because I expected that the Government
[0003]

would have employed
you to describe them
all.

Mr Webb's knee is a little better but still locked, he goes about

today for first time
I think the thing must be in a dent in
the cartilage - The fish are dying just coming out. It is far too cold for them to hatch out.

I am &c

David Livingstone

In one note you say Aulaclodus Swinderianus In another Aulacodus Swinderinanus

[0004]
28th I am glad that your reply is to be printed - and think you were quite right to object to the Speke scheme.
I was written to about 3 months ago to attend the meeting and it would they said be put off till it was convenient. I let them know that it
never would be convenient - The slave trade must be suppressed as the first great step to any mission - that
baffles every good
effort. I see Lord
Stanley is in the hands of the oil traders - again. The native Christians in Sierra Leone contribute £10,000 annually to the church mission