the warm stream of humanity chilling all who came near them.

My Dear Kirk
Agnes wont undertake the selection of a vignette so I must do the best I can. you remember a sphex which used to kill tsetse
a long bodied rakish craft of an insect I dont know its native name but

[0002]

They have £17000 yet!

Oswell called today and he thought of it I shall take the scroll to Murray
on Monday Morning & see what he thinks. I set Waller to draw a man in a slave stick &
the slave trader holding the end
with a gun in his hand

The sewing would be better see if you

[0003]

Agnes sends kind regards & thanks for the offer of a ticket and so do I to your mother. Hoping she is better I am &c David Livingstone cant light on something better. We have a birds eye view of the falls as a Front-ispiece - from one

I sent home in 1860 Palms however are home manufacture
It gives a good idea
of them.

Waller called with Alington yesterday
the latter would like to go with me and I believe pay his own expenses as he did with the mission. He is

[0004]
a good fellow - knows a little Zulu from going into Panda's country. I told him what we have for the whole thing £500 from F. O.
£500 from RGS
and £1000 from a private friend.
I would rather go alone than take any one untried
I suffered too much from Bedingfield & co. I would be delighted if we could be together but I fear

[0005]
the money wont reach a salary
Could Lord Dalhousie
not manage a salary for you - I mean to go up Rovuma
to where we turned in boats - Make

Ndonde's a depot for goods - Not many for I dont mean to waste men as Speke & Burton did. nor go in grande array twenty or twenty five Indians Sir
Bartle Frere told me that they were [...]

[0006]
faithful - I would not bring them into contact with Zanzibarites at all. Then go up along Rovuma westwards of whom we heard as good & having many buffaloes in their country - then get into communication with the Mazitu if they are still further west - and if they are to the South go among the Manganja
who are great elephant hunters about

[0007]
Bemba and work quietly west.

We were always in too great a hurry last expedition I would have more time & get better acquainted with the natives and try to give them some idea of our objects as we go along.

I told Alington that I would take tea coffee & flour to last a long time but not much else - & that

[0008]

he might think about it

What do you say to a talk with L^d Dalhousie about it? I shall be here till 23^d.

Thanks for the information about poor Baikie. It is very sad. I did not quite believe Mays stories

Of course I shall keep it secret but it does appear sad, and enough to discourage the F.O.
altogether.

Rowley talked 2 hours yesterday. Waller called the anthropologists
