17th July 1863

In medias Res as some folks fond of sporting their Latinity after they have forgotten it would date the spot from which I write. . for it is no where and we are in the labor pains of transport - I cannot say that we have not succeeded pretty well so far but it promises to be a tedious job and that would do for me Listening to the counsel

[0002]

of my fellow travellers as I have often done before I write in hopes of your assistance they say that there are many Ajawa
about you who would willingly carry the boat as far as we need it borne if you would recommend them to do so. I shall pay them in brass wire the same as I sent to you in thickness five rods each man which make 20 ring

[0003]

a quantity of beads but more I cannot specify otherwise than if they prefer the light blue

called by the Makololo
"Nyassa beads" it will not be less than 20 strings each. If white pink or green 1 lb each or more and say two fathoms of fine calico prints as handkerchiefs - a string or two of large neck beads blue & white and knives each But would

[0004]

pay aught else you determine as knowing them better than I do
only work hard they must and bring their own provisions
with them - and no stealing can be allowed from the few Menganja
we pass.

If it can be arranged that they want for my return to be paid I might be able to satisfy them better with some odd things I may find about

[0005]

but in case they prefer to be paid as soon as the work is done may I beg the favour of your giving Mr George the list afore mentioned with the names of the men and he will pay them
in my absence

Now my dear man as quick as may be convenient please - I did not think of giving in

[0006]

to the labour but it came heavy on me
and would use me up pretty well ere I get on the water
and no pleasure be the result. If they won't go let me know as quickly as possible about forty would do if strong fellows If I had no idea of your having so many about you
as I might have

[0007]

sought them sooner

With kind regards to Rowley whom I hope to hear as quite recovered
from his illness
and to M^sAlington
with blessings on yourself. I keep Whately & Stephen
please to read &
deliver at Morambala
after our return

D Livingstone

M^s Young will send a man up with them to us

[0008]

[0009]

17th

I have thought over the affair of the boys
women & children and will arrange with M Ferrad to send food sufficient for them for a year at my expense - so take whom you think
right - if the bishop repudiates I shall take all off his hands but remember if Mesquita is there

he is a spy & must not know our plans - if Bishop Mackenzie had

[0010]

no authority to receive the recaptives Bishop Tozer shall not have it in his power to disgrace our glorious & generous old English church. Before the year is out we shall hear from home about them. Let all be done quietly here

Sorry to repeat that Moerimar & Seseego's
wives have been taken away by Ajawa others will follow -
It ought to have been

[0011]

the other way the Makololo ought to have taken the wives of the Ajawa but being six and half a dozen except that the Ajawa
in addition to the wives of the Makololo are low thieves anyone who maintains the goodness of either or the irreclaimable badness of either has not learned the first lesson in native
character

thanks for all your kindness. Do you think it possible that the bishop would

[0012]

lend Thornton's boat to Pioneer. we could sail

it up from the Bar with any mail that may come in the ship that takes off Pioneer - or if we had it from this to Morambala we could manage with a canoe beyond - If you will mention this subject to him - He may not be cordial with one and I cannot at present write - Am taking the steward - Have your box all ready to go & any thing else you like

With kind good wishes
I am &c David Livingstone
