

Letter to Horace Waller

Livingstone, David, 1813-1873

Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org)

[0001]

Above 6 August
1863

My Dear Waller

The Ajawa went off saying that they were sick and made the woods ring with their laughter while still in sight I certainly would punish them for breech of contract to teach them & others not to do wrong & do it insultingly but we are going away and in the example I might include some of the innocent. I find Mololo & his companion capital fellows - I told them that the pay
of the seven who went off for the six days
they worked should be

[0002]

divided among those who remain - We were delayed six days
by this but having sent for men to the ship
will now get on -
Before our good bishop
came up he had sent a humble request to Tito to be allowed to settle on the slopes of Morambala and to allow Mesquita
to be his interpreter !!!
His good sense will get over such stuff = Hence I think it of the last importance that you old stagers should remain & influence by a little sense - such vagaries - they are no doubt real good christian men

at heart and just as

[0003]

Alington comes out so will they as experience is gathered - Captain Wilson desires to be kindly remembered to you all
by name - U to some who are gone - promises to use his influence in London to get a cutter &c for you & has landed
some salt provisions
for you at
Poor Ramsay is dead
I enclosed a note for you that came in
my letters =

Commending you to the guidance & protection of our never failing
friend I am

Ever with Affection

David Livingstone

Remembrances to Rowley
& Alington

[0004]

Please send the note to Meller on by your earliest opportunity & send Alington away
from that low spot
of yours before the
hot weather sets in otherwise he will get a bad type of fever
The note for M^{rs} Ferreio please to be left at mouth of

Shire with the Commandante -
Please thank D^r Steare for his kindness in sending off our goods
want of time prevents
my doing so myself