

Letter to Edmund Gabriel, [2 March-3 April 1856]

David Livingstone

Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org)

[0001]

[5]I make a few addenda as they occur to me in the hope that you may be induced by insnoozy ability some evening to glance over them. Though I make an offer to promote an overland communication as much as lies in my power I have but little expectation of its being accepted for the overland route [^] [to India] presents a much shorter mode of conveyance than this. And there is frequent communication between Mosambique and Bombay- I thought it graceful to make the offer at least. and perhaps there is a small admixture of pride in offering to do what they themselves desired but could never accomplish I have got two plants - one like but I think superior to Ifi the succulent part can be knocked off at once leaving fibres which when tried their strength seem as if they could cut the fingers - it can be made into fine thread and is a kind of thornless aloes. Here they name it Congé or Konjé - Another named Buanze is very good strong lint.

I am thinking seriously of an iron house! I am sick of labouring in bricks and mortar. The Directors will give it Wont it do under, a spreading Ficus?

[0002]

Requires very little steeping too and when beaten between two sticks readily separates into fine fibres - it is really remarkably strong - grows in great abundance. I must I suppose sent them to the Earl of Clarendon without the help of any one like yourself. I wish to introduce the Buaze to India it would be a benefit to the poor population for I think it may be found to grow in uncultivated tracts of country - I mean to collect some papyrus too - I dont care though it does not succeed - there is pleasure in making the attempt to benefit our fellow men - It is like our Heavenly Father to try and do good to the unthankful and evil. If the Buaze succeeds in India surely the Portuguese here wont lag behind. Mayor Secard the Gov^r here seems anxious to promote the welfare of this fine but spoiled country - He advises me to secure a licence to go back again from the Port.^e Gov^t as many have been refused permission to ascend the Zambesi. The knowledge Lord Cⁿ [0003]

possesses about my labours may be of use to me in that.

I have often thought that Latham's ornitholo[-gy] would be an agreeable companion for you - but never when I happened to be writing - It is £12..12 if I remember rightly but worth it though it has many faults - It will scarcely be worth your while ordering it now as you will soon go home - Remember to look at D^r Smith's birds in some library - His animals are not good - But those of Harris. The large plates, are excellent Also Angus plates of savage Caffres.
I never saw Audubon or Wilson's American birds. Some of your acquaint -ances may be seen in Le Vaillant's plates - This, when you are lounging some time in Europe. you will remember to do - There are British birds of the size of life by somebody you might manage the same for Angola - Wonder how you enjoyed your trip in the interior & what novidades you brought back to Boa Vista [0004]

Please write to me in England next. care of Rev^t D^r Tidman, Mission House Blomfield St London I feel sure he has paid the money and do not refer to it on that account -

Have been examining native remedies more attentively than formerly - think there are are a few of value. I shall get some botanical books from Colonel Steele if he is alive but I think of and write to him now with a palpitating heart - We must learn to say from the heart "thy will be done" with respect to all our concerns I have thus far been so well and mercifully guided by our Heavenly Counsellor it would be in the last degree ungrateful in me to doubt his condescension and love. How true is the word "In all thy ways acknowledge Him and he shall direct thy steps". That he may guide you in all your future life and lead you to his heavenly kingdom is the hearts' desire of yours Ever affectionately & Truly

David Livingstone