The young whydah birds crouch [...] at night for heat - they look like a wooly ball on a branch By day they engage in pairing & coaxing each other by lifting a feather & popping from side to side of the mate coaxingly - they come to the same twig every night - Like children - they try to lift heavy weights of feathers above [√] their strength

13th July 1872 saw the first kites today - (3) one had spots of white feathers on body [^] [below] as if it were a young one - - probably come from North [√]

21st Another nest of Wagtails flown = eat bread crumbs - Whydahs busy pairing = 6 Aug = Wagtails begin to discard[√] the young which feed themselves [0095]

The young = 19th June 1872 Whydaws though full fledged still gladly take a feed from their dam - putting down the breast to the ground & cocking up the bill and chirruping in the most engaging manner and winning way they know Dam gives a little still but administers a friendly shoree off too - they all pick up feathers or grass and hop from side to side of mates as if saying come let us play at making little houses = Wagtail has shaken her young quite off and has a new nest - warbles pretty[i]ly very much like a canary - is extremely active in catching flies but eats crumbs of bread and milk too - sun
birds visit the [✓] pomegran ate flowers and eat insects there in too as well as nectar [0096]

near Kasangangaze saw

The first smile of an infant with its tooth-
-less gums is one of the pleasantest sights in nature = Innocence claiming kinship and asking to be looed in its helplessness [✓]

Cock Whydaw bird died in the night - brood came & chirruped to it for food - tried to awake it as if not knowing death -

Wagtail dam refused its young a caterpillar till it had killed it - ran away [✓] from it but then gave it when ready to be swallowed [0097]

Two Whydau birds with black throats and white breasts & brown on rest of body had their nests destroyed several times by boys = they put back their eggs as they have the power to do & now build again

25th May 1872 - another pair of red breasted cock had 10 chickens & now rebuild afresh - see case of Trout in other book May 25th Red cock bird feeds all the [✓] brood - each puts his head on one side as he inserts it in his bill = chirruping briskly & bothering him -

The young ones lift up a feather as a doll & invite [suspect] others to do the same in play as children make miniature houses -
one cock & hen paired he skips from side to side with

London, Aug. 29. Dr. Kirk of Zanzibar writes that Dr. Livingstone is still in the country west of the Tanganayika and the Arabs there count him as a resident. In that region no feeling is manifested toward him. He is moving slowly but safely, and will leave no doubts in the geographical problem whether Lake Tan-ganayika is the real head of the Nile, or whether it empties by the Congo.
