My Dear D^r Hooker

I beg leave
to enclose another
of my lame
specimens. It
floats on the water of the Zambesi and is very pretty .

[0002]

It has no root in
the soil but
seems quite content with the water. his
has preserved
its appearance
but is much shrivelled. A water plant
called by the
Portuguese Alfacinya

[0003]

"lettuce" from its resemblance to
that plant also
floats on the water
and great quantities
come down a
river called Shire into the Zambesi. It is said quite to
obstruct the navigation. It is on that account

[0004]

I mention it in the book. I saw it
at Oxford but the
name has escaped
me. It is like a little cabbage-
Another plant appeared
at the same time
which I don 't trouble
you with but
only mention
it as to me a curiosity. It is called Njefu

[0005]

and has a leafe
of this size & shape
at there is

a nut which

Sebituane the chief liked so
much he made it a
part of the tribute

[0006]

from the tribes
he subjected.
I liked those I
eat and they were floating
in company
with the Alfacinya .
If you can give me the
proper name
of the last

[0007]

I shall feel obliged
but do not
I pray you
spend much time on the subject. Many and hearty thanks

for your notes
all of which came duly to hand. As also

[0008]
the notes from
M^r Westwood
for which I am very thankful .

Please present
my kindest
salutations to
M^{rs} H& believe me Most truly .

Yours

David Livingstone
