

Letter to [Wilbraham?] Taylor

Livingstone, David, 1813-1873

Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org)

[0001]

Kendal

2 March

1858

My Dear Taylor

In talking
over matters here
with my friends
the idea has sprung up in

[0002]

mind that if you could get a statement on paper from
D^r Tidman
that I could shew to Thompson
it would be more satisfactory

[0003]

than a mere verbal assurance such as you got. If you would not think this too much trouble I should feel obliged.

When I came home Tidmansaid the same thing to me
but here Thompson
sends the letter you

[0004]

saw through the Mission House

and all their letters on business
go through each others hands open
I have no assurance to shew Thompson
at present.

I am at Liverpool tomorrow
I wrote you today this is an afterthought

David Livingstone