My Dear D^r Hooker
There is some probability of an expedition being sent up the Zambesi.
A deputation from the British Association has formed a committee [which met] at the Royal Society's apartments
on Saturday last

[0002]

General Sabine, D^r Lloyd, Sir H. Rawlinson Sir R. Murchison MacGregor Laird & Dr Robinson were present. They are to be strengthened by memorials from the chambers of commerce of Liverpool Manchester Leeds & Birmingham &c. & an interview with Lord Clarendon will come off soon. There is therefore some [0003]

probability of success
The object being to survey the Zambesi
and get full information respecting the natural productions
of the new countries

My Object in writing

you is rather a selfish one. I believe you & I came through Graham's hands as well as D^r Lyon Playfair D^r Thomson Prof. G. Wilson James Young our under or superintendent

[0004]

I confess to having a feeling of partiality to that squad and though I cannot indulge a ray of hope that you will join us as there no body in the wide world I should like better than you I am constrained to say even without hope - I cant go farther, but possibly if it comes to selection you will be able to recommend a sensible good tempered fellow

[0005]

[though you dont come yourself] I dont suppose I shall have anything to do in the selection but I may have a power of veto, probably your father will be applied to. Between ourselves I dont want a German Do you see how these Schlagentweits are hawked about as if neither you nor Thomson had ever been on the Hymalayas.

[0006]

We shall send over that precious book that gave me such a deal of bother before long I hope Mrs H. recovered nicely I have been spouting at different places but am thankful to say that work is now done. I go to Portugal soon And am Ever yours David Livingstone
