My Dear Sir

About Dec^r 56 or January /57 a lecture was delivered by Prof. Owen on Ivory in the rooms of the Society of Arts and I had the [0002] pleasure of hearing it. My impression is that he said that the number of tusks brought into the market of the world warranted the belief that $38\ 000\ elephants$

were destroyed

annually. As you have the

lecture quotably

[0003]

at hand would

you oblige me by saying if my impression is correct and oblige

Yours Most Truly

David Livingstone
