Livingstone, David, 1813-1873 Published by Livingstone Online (livingstoneonline.org) [0001]He promised me a proof a month ago and another on Wednesday last Hadley Green $27\frac{\text{th}}{}$ June 1857 My Dear M^r Murray You had better keep the medal till I come up myself We made a call on an old Mauritius family in Oxford Square on our way and they [0002]gave us some luncheon so the time passed over in which we could have found you & did not call, to say we had met a first cousin of yours in New college who was very civil to us, especially [0003] to Mrs L. with whom he sat at dinner. they gave us a good reception in the theatre. I had declined to give a lecture on Tuesday but if I had known

I would have done it [even] at the expense of a sore throat

[0004]

I shall bring Kane
the first time
I come - that fellow Arrowsmith always does that. You may remember I gave him all about six weeks ago except one point which has not yet come
and it would only be a correction of what is already published if I dont garrotte him
I wont do what he deserves
D Livingstone
