My Dear Sir

About Decr 56 or January /57 a lecture was delivered by Prof. Owen on Ivory in the rooms of the Society of Arts and I had the [0002]pleasure of hearing it. My impression is that he said that the number of tusks brought into the market of the world warranted the belief that 38 000 elephants were destroyed annually. As you have the lecture quotably [0003]at hand would you oblige me by saying if my impression is

Yours Most Truly

correct and oblige

David Livingstone
